

Branching on real state

One compiled graph, both branches wired before either run starts -- the weather decides which one gets taken.